

Saint Augustine Camera Club

The Saint Augustine Camera Club (SACC) was established in September 2010 with a stated mission "to provide club members with educational information and enjoyable activities in the field of photography." At the end of the first meeting, the founding seven members had officers, a mission statement, a schedule of meetings, and a general idea of what they wanted to accomplish. Honoring that mission with a series of lectures, educational workshops and field trips, SACC has grown to over 100 members with a wide array of photographic skills and interests.

SACC works on their goal of continuing education through interesting speakers and presentations. Workshops for beginning photographers help club members and other participants understand how their cameras operate and the techniques needed to take better photographs. Specialty workshops on subjects like HDR, macro, night photography and flash techniques appeal to the more experienced photographers.

Coming off a successful 2014 member show and a summer of exhibits at the St Johns County Administration Building, SACC has scored another coup -- an appearance and presentation by Clyde Butcher, one of the most revered photographer of our time and an unmatched chronicler and booster of Florida's natural beauty. With his works frequently compared to those of Ansel Adams, Butcher's black and white masterpieces of the Everglades, Florida and other landscapes have earned him an international reputation. SACC is delighted to present this master photographer (and ardent conservationist) to the St Augustine community.
